Trade Review. Trade in general remains in very much the same condition as a week ago, though there is a better feeling prevalent in most lines. There have been no very marked changes in the produce markets, and values have ranged very even throughout the week. Eggs have been selling at 91/c in small lots, and at 9c in round lots. The receipts have been liberal and more than equal to the local demand, the surplus being shipped to New York and San Francisco. The butter market is in a better condition than it has been for some better condition than it has been for some time. The receipts continue light, especially of all choice grades, while the demand is strong. All the choice butter meets with ready sale, and at good prices. Inferior grades are neglected and are slow sale. Poultry is in active demand, and the supply very light. Live chickens are in good request, and have sold all the week at $3.50 per dozen, a few sales being made at even a higher figure. Dressed poultry is still in good demand, but is gradually falling off as the weather becomes warmer. The season for game is about over and there is very little conving in. Ducks, which constitute the bulk of the receipts, have been slow sale all the week. Dealers have been compelled to sell for what they could get, in some cases even as low as they could get, in some cases even as low as 50c a dozen or allow the stock to spoil on their hands. There is a great deal of inquiry 50c a dozen or allow the stock to spoil on their hands. There is a great deal of inquiry from country shippers regarding the demand for potatoes. At present the state of the market is not by any means encouraging and the little stock arriving is difficult to sell. Retail dealers will not buy in car lots, but only as their needs compel them, and then in small lots. The local farmers are bringing in a good many which they sell at low prices, thereby enabling the grocers to re all in some cases at the wholesale price. The outside price for the very choicest stock is 50c, and it is no easy matter to sell even at that price.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Saturday Evening, April 10.

There were very few cattle on the market and business was very dull. The receipt fall far short of the demand, and every thing offered on the market met with ready sale. The receipts of hogs were more liberal than is usual on Saturday. The market opened active and with a better feeling than on the day previous.
